

Environment Agency enforces annual close season for salmon and sea trout fishing

The Environment Agency (EA) is enforcing the annual close season over the winter months to help protect salmon and sea trout from disturbance when spawning, allowing stocks to grow.