

Environment Agency working day and night to reduce flood impact

Environment Agency is working to reduce impact of flooding across parts of northern England following heavy persistent rain.