

The Great Outdoor Escape: popularity for fishing here to stay as public desire long-term connection with nature

The Environment Agency has launched a campaign calling on all potential and seasoned anglers to see their licences as more than just a legal entitlement to fish.

Man fined for obstructing Environment Agency officers

A North East man has been fined for obstructing Environment Agency officers during an investigation into the illegal dumping of waste.

Environment Agency crushes 8 wheel truck linked to Kent waste crime

Tough action is example of Environment Agency's new powers to combat illegal waste activity.

Bathing water season begins

The Environment Agency is monitoring 419 bathing water sites across England until 30 September

The crucial role of nature-based solutions in addressing the climate crisis

Speech by Emma Howard Boyd at the ClimateExpo, 18 May 2021