

Natural flood management project to begin at Greater Manchester beauty spot

A project designed to implement natural flood risk management (NFM), techniques for communities that lie within the catchment of the River Irwell will commence in the coming weeks.

Water companies challenged to improve environmental performance

Water company chiefs challenged on environmental performance, leakage and protecting supplies.

Healthcare for planets and humans: why looking after nature is good for mind, body, and the NHS

Speech by Sir James Bevan, Chief Executive, Environment Agency, UCL Institute for Sustainable Resources.

Crayfish rescued in Kendal ahead of planned gravel removal

The Environment Agency have conducted a crayfish rescue as part of their regular gravel removal works on the River Kent in Kendal to reduce flood risk to the town

Investing in nature is an investment in the NHS, says Environment Agency Chief Executive

Access to a healthy natural environment could save the NHS billions of pounds a year, Sir James Bevan will say in a speech at UCL