

Exploring the potential for geothermal energy

Geothermal energy in Cornwall

Press release: Fishing trip cost Leicester man over £1,400 – a licence costs £30

Matt Ralton, of St Stephens Road, Leicester was proved guilty of fishing without a licence failing to state name and address and obstructing a constable

Press release: Call for committee members to help shape future flood plans

The Environment Agency is recruiting members for flood committees in the Severn and Wye and the Trent catchments.

Dynamic backdrop for Land Use event

A visitor attraction that celebrates the changing face of the planet was an appropriate venue for Scotland's Biennial Land Use and Environment Conference.

Press release: Pair caught fishing illegally land over £1200 in fines and costs

A fishing trip cost two Wolverhampton men more than £600 each, after they were caught without a licence and illegally removing fish.