

Press release: Man found fishing without a licence in Newark nets £600 penalty

Sheffield man to pay £600 after avoiding a £30 annual licence

BGS delves into Deep Earth at Edinburgh Science Festival

Scientists from the British Geological Survey (BGS) will be introducing people of all ages to the depths of our research and knowledge at the Edinburgh Science Festival next week.

New £15 million national isotope facility for earth and environmental science

Five of the UK's leading research institutions – the British Geological Survey (BGS), the Scottish Universities Environmental Research Centre (SUERC), the University of Bristol, the University of Oxford and the Centre for Ecology & Hydrology (CEH) – have joined forces to create a new national isotope facility.

Strangles symposium success

Eradicating strangles – the UK's most prevalent infectious equine disease – could become a reality if more people were inspired to take action.

Jay to remember for students

One of Britain's best-known food critics has met with hospitality students at Scotland's Rural College.