

Famous faces urge people to take up a career in care

Public are urged to consider a career in care as celebrities pledge their support for the sector.