

Faster support for children to get school ready as Tech Sec vows to better connect public services

New project launched to explore how better data-sharing can help ensure kids are school ready.