

First containers of waste from Dounreay reach permanent disposal

Almost 200 containers of low-level radioactive waste that once formed part of Britain's experiment with fast breeder nuclear reactors are being entombed.