

First ever government female veterans' forum to put ex-military voices at the heart of support

Female veterans are to be put at the heart of government support, through a new women veterans forum announced today.