

Former Government training centre sold to provide new homes and a retirement village

The Cabinet Office has sold the former Government Civil Service College site at Sunningdale Park in Berkshire for around £50 million.