

Four companies linked to scheme which helped directors walk away from debts and undermine insolvency legislation are shut down

Companies wound-up in the public interest following Insolvency Service investigations