

Frontline workers and local communities to play crucial role in delivery of Government missions

Three of the Government's thematic campuses – key locations drawing together staff from different departments with different skills and expertise – will become testbeds of the Government's missions.