

Global interest at mine heat living lab one-year milestone

UK's first mine water heat Living Lab is attracting global interest, with US and European researchers exploring its low-carbon heat data.