

Government and rail industry say 'Enough' to sexual harassment

Campaign will target sexual harassment on trains and at stations while train operators will be scored on how they tackle the issue under new scheme.