

Government backing future British 'defence unicorns' as new contracts awarded to drive innovation

Thirteen British businesses have been awarded contracts of up to £4 million to work with the Ministry of Defence to boost rapid procurement and deliver cutting-edge technology for the UK Armed Forces.