

Government commits to addressing housebuilding recommendations

The UK Government has today published its response to the Competition and Market's Authority's (CMA) housebuilding study.