

Government cracks down on unsafe and unregulated building products in response to Grenfell Tower tragedy

Major proposals to strengthen the construction products used in buildings across the country have been published today in a crackdown on unregulated practices.