

Government delivers thousands more school-based nursery places

Working parents will have their lives made easier as government opens 300 new or expanded nurseries on school grounds.