

Government explores buying trains over leasing in new rail strategy

Passengers will benefit from more reliable trains, better connectivity and a greener railway across the UK.