

Government launches Charter Review to future-proof the BBC

The Culture Secretary has launched the once-in-a-decade review of the BBC's Royal Charter with the aim of bolstering trust in the broadcaster and putting it on a sustainable financial footing.