

Government leads global fight against deepfake threats

Government collaborates with Microsoft and other world leading technology companies to create a framework which will identify gaps in deepfake detection.