

Government publishes changes to growth rates and R value

The government has today (Friday 31 July) published the latest UK wide and regional growth rates for England, alongside R values.