

Government ramps up plans to protect Britain's pig sector against African and classical swine fever

New strategy launched to strengthen UK preparedness against African and classical swine fever