

Government to end cancer postcode lottery for patients

People living in rural and coastal areas will find it easier to see a cancer specialist as the government works to end the postcode lottery for care.