

Government to invest over £100m in water company fines to local environmental projects

The Government will invest water company fines into local projects across the country to clean up our rivers, lakes and seas