

Government to partner with tech companies, trade unions and industry leaders to boost AI adoption and equip workers with AI skills

More than £200 million in government support to help companies in Britain adopt AI – paving the way for the UK to become fastest AI adopting country in the G7