

Government welcomes hospitality and tourism sector plans to further strengthen its safety standards to prevent violence against women and girls

At a meeting of leading figures from the UK's hospitality, tourism and night-time economy sectors, ministers heard the industry's plans to further bolster safety standards across the industry.