

Guidance: Current approaches to product marking

Guidance on product marking, including the continued recognition of certain EU requirements, such as CE marking, for specific product sectors.