

Health Secretary speech to British Medical Association

The Secretary of State for Health and Social Care spoke at the special meeting of the British Medical Association's (BMA) representative body this morning.