

Health service to save millions with boost to electrify NHS fleet

Switching the NHS vehicle fleet to electric will save the health sector millions and help reduce 460 million miles worth of journeys across England.