

Heat, travel and late nights: How summer can affect your medicines and how to stay safe

The MHRA is urging people to “summer-proof your health” as warmer weather, travel, and changing routines can affect how medicines and medical devices work, with simple steps to help prevent avoidable harm.