

Highways England uses Minecraft to inspire next generation of engineers

Children at a Bedfordshire primary school spent a morning creating dual-carriageways and building three-tier junctions with popular block-building game Minecraft.