

Hong Kong to host Green Week in September

The following is issued on behalf of the Hong Kong Monetary Authority:

Hong Kong will host the second Hong Kong Green Week from September 8 to 12.

The theme of this year is "Forging a Sustainable Future Together". The week-long event will cover a wide array of sustainability-related topics, providing stakeholders from various regions and sectors with a platform for dialogue and collaboration.

During the week, the Hong Kong Monetary Authority (HKMA) and the International Finance Corporation will co-host the anchor event, Climate Business Forum: Asia Pacific 2025. The Forum will bring together speakers at the forefront of sustainable business and finance for a deep dive into the region's transition to low-carbon, resilient and inclusive growth. The HKMA will also co-ordinate other events such as conferences, roundtables, workshops and networking events hosted by international organisations, financial institutions, corporates, industry associations, academic institutions and others. Event details will be announced in due course.
