

How Imperial's clinical researchers rose to the challenge of vaccine trials

Ellyw Evans from Imperial College London's faculty of medicine speaks to staff from Imperial's Clinical Research Facility about how they adapted their work during the pandemic to deliver several Covid-19 vaccine trials.