

JET demonstrates laser-based diagnostic to monitor tritium

Fusion energy scientists and engineers at JET have developed a world leading laser-based method to release and measure tritium trapped in fusion energy tokamaks