

John Flint to step down as National Wealth Fund CEO in the summer

John Flint to step down from his role as CEO of the National Wealth Fund (NWF) in the summer, after four years of public service.