

Justice for victims as domestic killers to face longer behind bars

People who kill their partner, or ex, to face a 25-year sentencing start point under a change announced today by the Deputy Prime Minister.