

Landscape with ruins: reflections on European security

The British Ambassador to Ireland gave a lecture at University College Cork on Europe's changing security landscape, and called for tougher sanctions on Russia.