

Letters to businesses about trade arrangements after the UK has left the EU

These letters have been sent to VAT-registered businesses trading with the EU, or the EU and the rest of the world. They explain actions to take to prepare for changes to customs arrangements after the transition period, including:

- getting a UK Economic Operator Registration and Identification (EORI) number
- customs facilitation

There will be no changes to the terms of trade with the EU or the rest of the world during the transition period. Businesses can keep up to date with these changes by registering for HMRC's email updates.
