

London gang members' sentences increased for gun offences

Two members of a London gang have had their sentences increased following a referral by the Solicitor General.