

London to Essex c2c services return to public control in step towards Great British Railways c2c's rail services to be brought into public ownership.