

Made in Space: UK funding boosts breakthrough space technologies

UK Space Minister unveils more than £19 million at London Tech Week to support British companies developing next-generation space technologies.