Initiative aims to educate Egyptians about climate change's impact on women

Sat, 2022-12-10 23:34

CAIRO: A "Feminists for Climate" initiative is setting out to educate Egyptians about the effects of climate change on women in general and Egyptian women in particular.

The initiative's founder, Marihan Fouad, said: "Women are the weakest and most vulnerable group, and the issue of climate change and its consequences is what increases their vulnerability and problems. The goal of the initiative is to raise awareness of that.”

Israelis rapped for blocking Christian permits to visit Bethlehem

Fri, 2022-12-09 22:02

GAZA CITY: Christians in the Gaza Strip hope to celebrate Christmas each year and reunite with their families, but Israeli restrictions on movement are preventing thousands from taking part in the occasion.

Israel has been accused of strictly limiting permits to pray in the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem to a limited number of worshipers.

The Palestinian Civil Affairs Authority – the body responsible for communicating with Israeli officials at Erez crossing – said that Israel rejected more than 260 applications.

Bassil turns to Maronite patriarch for support amid Lebanon stalemate

Fri, 2022-12-09 21:57

BEIRUT: Maronite Patriarch Bechara Boutros Al-Rahi hinted on Friday that some obstacles were hindering dialogue aimed at ending the political stalemate over the presidential vacuum.

Al-Rahi's remarks came as he received Lebanese MP Gebran Bassil, son-in-law of outgoing President Michel Aoun and head of the Free Patriotic Movement party.

In light of the political dispute with Hezbollah, Bassil turned to Al-Rahi in an attempt to strengthen his position.

Bassil also rejects the holding of Cabinet sessions by a caretaker government amid the presidential vacuum.
