

“Migration is a global challenge requiring global cooperation” says Foreign Secretary, announcing expansion of North Africa programme to support migrants closer to home

The UK is expanding funding for programmes which helps countries across North Africa deal with the impacts of migration from regional conflict.