

Ministerial letter on cyber security to small businesses

Ministers and the National Cyber Security Centre have written an open letter to small businesses and business representative organisations about cyber security.