

More areas of country move into drought with dry weather set to continue

National Drought Group steps up operational response and asks people to play their part in managing the drought and use water wisely