

National Drought Group meets after driest spring in 132 years

Expert group told England has now experienced driest March, April and May since 1893.