

National Microgravity Research Centre opens in Swansea

The UK's first National Microgravity Research Centre has been completed at Swansea University, marking the successful delivery of a £13 million project part-funded by the UK Space Agency.