

National Theatre film and Imperial War Museums bring Second World War stories to a new generation as part of VE Day 80 plans

A new National Theatre film, 'The Next Morning' will showcase stories of young people after the Second World War